Below are this semester's Semester Exam Schedules and Semester Exam Exemption Policies. Students only have to be present for the classes they test in, but if they are on campus during a testing period, they must be in their assigned class, even if they are exempt. Semester Exam Exemption Policy

Exemption from semester testing is a privilege, not a right. English, math, science, and Bible are core courses at TCS, and students are not allowed to be exempt from these classes.

To be considered exempt, all the following criteria must be met:

1. The semester grade must be (average of 3rd and 4th 9-week grades)
 - 85 or higher average in all on-level classes.
 - 90 or higher average in all honors classes, receiving the extra honors grade points (+7).
2. Students may not receive:
 - More than 5 Homework Remediation assignments considering all classes together during the semester.
 - More than 3 fines during the semester.
 - Checked out more than 5 temporary student IDs in a semester.
 - More than 5 unexcused tardies to any one class during the semester. More than 5 to any class disqualifies a student from exemptions for all classes.
 - May not have more than five absences per class during the semester, or the test for that class must be taken.
 - ISS or OSS during the semester.

If it is deemed necessary, the administration may exclude any student from test exemption due to disciplinary action.
